SENATE PRIMED TO PASS MEDICARE BILL

MURRAY

One of the best talks we have heard recently was by Dr. James Key of UT Jr. over at Martin, Tennessee.

He spoke on the New Mathematics which is giving so many folks, parents mostly, a hard way to go.

Mathematics is a way of checking common sense thinking, he told the club.

As an example, he posed the question about how many eggs would a hen lay in twelve days if a hen and a half laid an egg and a half in a day and a half.

Your common sense would lead you to say twelve eggs in twelve days.

But, that's wrong. The hen would lay eight eggs in twelve days, because if it takes a hen and a half to lay an egg and a half in a day and a half, it would take a hen a day and a half to lay one egg.

Naturally, you would figure that if it took a hen and a half a day and a half to lay one egg.

Kudzu Plants Have Been Planted On Eroded Road Banks

Approximately two miles of eroded, unsightly roadbanks in Calloway County may soon disappear as a result of recently completed work in the County.

Two thousand Kudzu plants have been planted on the most serious eroded highway roadbanks.

Kudzu is a rapid growing vine that has been used for several years throughout southern states for roadbank protection.

The work was made possible by cooperation between the Ky. Department of Highways, the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and the East and West Fork of Clark River Watershed District.

The Watershed District furnished materials, the highway department furnished labor and the Soil Conservation Service selected areas to be treated and supervised the planting.

Robert Brown, local Soil Conservationist said, "This much needed work will check erosion and reduce the cost of cleaning out road ditches, reduce sediment that chokes our streams, causing frequent flooding, and will help to beautify our countryside."

New Mathematics Designed To Create Better Thinking, Key

Dr. James F. Key, mathematics instructor at University of Tennessee Martin Branch, Martin, Tennessee, was the speaker for the Murray Rotary Club yesterday. He was introduced by Wells Purdon, Jr.

Dr. Key spoke to the club on the new mathematics which is now being taught in schools over the nation.

He told the club that someone has said that "if you can help your child with mathematics, you are using the wrong math." This is especially true today, he said, because few parents understand the new math and just cannot help their children with it.

He said that what he hoped to do was to tell the club the following four points: what it is, what it is doing here, is it here to stay and what will it do that the old math does not do.

He pointed out that the old way of teaching mathematics "killed" the child intellectually. The idea was to give a child plenty of problems and that if he worked enough he would learn mathematics. As a result, he said, a child strived for the answer which was emphasized, and if he could not get it he became frustrated and developed a mental block concerning mathematics.

The new method calls for thinking, not memorizing. He said that the mind used to be compared to a muscle that needed exercising to grow. Today the concept is that the mind is a "field" which must be probed and sowed.

Mathematics is a way to check common sense thinking, he told the Rotary Club. The great need today for young people who can think, he continued.

He told the assembled Rotarians that subjects today are taught differently in order to make them easier to learn. He pointed out that today's learning was just a mass of facts and dates. Today when children learn about Columbus, they learn why he made the voyage to America. Emphasis is on the political, religious and financial motivation for his trip, rather than just on the fact that he made the sea voyage.

He concluded his talk by saying that the great potential of the mind is just being discovered, and that the new mathematics is designed to bring this potential to the fullest.

Guest of Waylon Rayburn was Buford Hurt, Joe Pat James was a guest of Donald Tucker, P. J. Coleman of the Kentucky Lake State Park was introduced as a new Rotarian.

Waylon Rayburn thanked the club for their support on his recent election as District Governor of Rotary District 671.

Growers May Vote On Acre-Pound Tobacco Controls

WASHINGTON 478 — An acre-poundage tobacco control bill went to President Johnson for approval today and it was expected that growers could vote on the measure before May 1.

The measure, which would impose stricter controls on the number of acres a farmer can harvest and the number of pounds he can sell, passed the Senate by voice vote and was sent to the House where it passed without debate Thursday night.

The bill is a compromise version worked out earlier Thursday by a House-Senate conference committee.

Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, predicted that a growers referendum could be held before May 1. Farmers must approve the new program by a two-thirds vote for it to take effect.

President Johnson was expected to sign the bill soon since the measure had the support of the administration.

Under the present program, only acreage is limited. Growers of the new plan argued that this system resulted in farmers increasing the use of chemical fertilizers to increase per acre yields but lower the quality.

The acreage program, the U.S. Department of Agriculture cut allotments by 195 per cent on this year's crop. An official said if the new control plan is approved it would be possible to restore the cuts.

The bill would limit poundage for a grower to 120 per cent of the community average. For those who exceed this amount, permission would be given for an additional amount totaling 50 per cent of the actual three-year production plus 50 per cent of the national yield goal of 1.834 pounds.

The conferees also agreed to let burley growers market 120 per cent of their quota the first year and 110 per cent after that. The program would go into effect for flue-cured tobacco this year and for burley and other types next year.

Farmers who grow flue-cured tobacco would be allowed to market up to 10 per cent above their quota in any year but would have their quotas cut by an equal amount the following season.

House Passes Johnson Welfare Bill By Overwhelming Margin

WASHINGTON 478 — The Senate was primed today for fast action on President Johnson's $6 billion health and welfare bill, the most far-reaching legislation of its kind since the heyday of the New Deal.

The House handed Johnson a stunning victory Thursday night approving the bill, which includes a medical insurance program for the elderly, by an overwhelming 313-115 margin.

The President, in a statement read to newsmen at the White House after the vote, praised House passage of the measure.

"In 1935, the passage of the original Social Security Act opened up a new era of expanding income security for our older citizens. Now in 1965 we are moving once again to open still another frontier — that of health security," Johnson said.

"For an older person good health is his most precious asset. Access to the best of doctors, hospitals and other providers of health service have to offer is his most urgent need."

The omnibus health and welfare measure also included a 7 per cent increase in all Social Security benefits, which would be retroactive to last Jan. 1; liberalization of medical payments to the needy.

A total of 66 Republicans joined 248 Democrats in voting for the bill. It was opposed by 73 Republicans and 12 Democrats.

Liberal congressmen and senior citizen groups have been trying for 20 years to enact some form of national health insurance, but opposition in the important House Ways and Means Committee prevented such a measure from ever coming to a vote.

But this year the handwriting was on the wall. President Johnson made the health insurance program one of the key issues in last year's election campaign, and his sweeping victory Nov. 4 swelled the ranks of House liberals and tipped the scales in favor of the bill.

WASHINGTON 478 — The $6 billion health and welfare bill approved by the House Thursday would provide the most sweeping extension of welfare benefits since passage of the Social Security Act in 1935.

Here are the main provisions:

Health Care for the Elderly Extension of the Social Security system to provide a compulsory hospital insurance program for persons 65 and over. These benefits would become effective July 1, 1966, would be financed by raising Social Security payroll taxes. Doctor bills would not be covered.

An optional insurance plan for the elderly to defray doctor bills and other costs. Each participant would have to chip in $3 a month to join. The government also would match this. This provision also would be effective on July 1, 1966.

Social Security Benefits

All cash benefits paid to Social Security recipients would be increased 7 per cent, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1965. Each retired beneficiary would be guaranteed a minimum $4 a month increase.

A general liberalization of other benefits including allowing the Social Security pensioners 15-year more money before losing their eligibility for a retirement check. Widows also could retire at 60 instead of 62.

Hazel Has Developed An Excellent Junior High Program; Library Is Well Developed

This is the fourth in a series of reports to the public on the progress in education in Calloway County schools.

These reports are submitted by the Calloway County Teachers Association with the cooperation of the Calloway County Board of Education. This week's report is by the Hazel Elementary Staff.

In the past five years education has advanced substantially in Calloway County, as well as in the Hazel Elementary School. We feel this advancement is due to several things.

Hazel Elementary School has developed the spirit of cooperation tremendously. It is felt that the step-child problem situation, that once faced the seventh and eighth grades before consolidation have changed successfully. In other words, these two grades have found themselves, and an excellent Junior High program has been adopted. We have developed an excellent and successful reading program. We have also established a very successful central library program. We feel probably one of our greatest attributes is the fact we can give special attention to those students who really need it. Our only hindrance, of course, is lack of time.

We have had an excellent relationship with our Parent-Teacher Association and feel this is one of the greatest essentials to a successful school. The Hazel P.T.A. gives $300 annually to our reading program. They are constantly working to improve our building and only this year completely built a much needed concession stand. Presently, they are decorating a room to be used by the teacher for counseling and other purposes.

The success of our school, as is any school, depends on the cooperation of the Board of Education, County Superintendent and the school itself. Cooperation and success to a great extent are measured in the realm of finances. It is felt we have received one-hundred per cent cooperation in this area as far as funds will go and are available.

An adequate supplemented library book program is in effect. Improvements have been initiated in science and math. Efforts have also been made to raise teaching techniques and standards. Mr. Miller, Calloway County High School principal, and Mr. Curd, our supervisor, have done everything in their power to improve and strengthen our program. Earlier bus departures, effective testing programs and an excellent permanent record system are only a few examples of their hard work. All their efforts have been greatly appreciated at this level.

Although we have advanced, we feel further advancement is a necessity. Funds that are presently being raised daily at Hazel School goes to pay our light bills, gas and other general repairs. Certainly this money could be used advantageously.

Indians Fostering Rebirth Of Interest In Cleveland

By CURT BLOCK

UPI Sports Writer
The Indians are fostering a rebirth of baseball interest in Cleveland—with the aid of a pair of ex-Yankees.

Tribe General Manager Gabe Paul hit the trading path during the off-season and came up with such beauties as Rocky Colavito from Kansas City and Chuck Hinton from Washington. But his greatest coup may have been in acquiring a couple of Yankee castoffs—right-handers Ralph Terry and Stan Williams.

Williams, a 6-foot-4 California resident, who won only one game for the Yankees last year and was picked up by the Indians late last month, limited the San Francisco Giants to four hits and retired the last 10 men in a row as Cleveland registered a 4-1 victory Thursday.

Sales Have Risen
The Indians have been taking a back seat to the co-occupants of Municipal Stadium. The National Football League Cleveland Browns, but since the return of Colavito, an old favorite, and the relative success 15-13 of the team this spring, advance ticket sales have risen above the $800,000 mark.

Little Vic Davaillo and Leon Wagner contributed a single and a double apiece as Cleveland recorded its second decision over the Giants in Cactus League play.

By the same token, the world champion St. Louis Cardinals were in the market for new sales during the off-season and came up with Bob Purkey, a former Cincinnati Red, who blanked the Mets for five innings Thursday as the Redbirds pounded out a 6-1 win.

Purkey, who Manager Red Schoendienst calls one of the league's finest "money pitchers," lowered his pre-season earned run average to 1.74 as the Cards evened their exhibition record at 13-13.

Rookie Cardinal sensation Ed Sneed ripped a triple, upping his batting average to a startling .533 and his slugging percentage to an astounding .933. However, the 23-year-old utility-man may have a problem finding a spot on the squad because he performs as third base and in left field where the Cardinals have solid fixtures in Ken Boyer and Lou Brock.

Center fielder Curt Flood went 4-for-4 and Boyer chipped in with three runs in the Cards final Florida game for the spring.

Senators Win

Two former Dodgers helped Washington to an 8-3 win over Baltimore, the Senators fifth straight victory. Ken McMullen rapped out four hits and right-hander Phil Ortega stopped the birds on two hits over the first five frames. . . Cincinnati erupted for 13 hits, 12 of them off Wingo Sox ace Gary Peters, and the Reds clipped Chicago 5-1. Jim O'Toole, Sammy Ellis and Bill McCool twirled the combined efforts for the Reds. . . Catcher Bill Bryan clouted a grand slam home run as the Kansas City A's ended their nine game losing streak with an 8-4 triumph over Minnesota.

The Jacksonville Suns took advantage of three Dodgers errors and downed Los Angeles 4-1. Lefthander Dick LeMay stopped Los Angeles

ELECTRICITY NEEDS A PATH!

To reach you, electricity must have a path from our distribution center. We call this path an easement—or right-of-way—and on it are our poles and lines.

To give you good service, the rights-of-way—or the paths that electricity follows to reach you—must be kept clear of growth, especially trees.

Tree limbs—or trees—falling across power lines are the No. 1 cause of outages. When this happens, you and hundreds of your neighbors may be without electricity for several hours.

For this reason, we clear rights-of-way periodically as a regular part of the operation of our electric system.

Between our right-of-way clearing times, you can help us by not planting trees, vines, or other plants that may at some future time interfere with the power lines crossing your land. By doing this, you'll help us keep electricity coming your way, thereby sparing yourself and your neighbors the inconvenience of service interruption.

You'll also help us reduce clearing costs and cost of outages. And this adds up to better service at lower cost for you.

Electricity needs a path to your door—you can help us keep it clear!

Dear Abby . . .

Mentally Confused!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend says that what he likes most about me is that I am morally aloof. He is right. I don't put up with any monkey business. Fred (not his real name) used to be very thick with a certain girl for about three years. He said she was not morally aloof like I was. In fact, she was just the opposite. Now Fred tells me that he has to go back with her every now and then to test his strength and make sure that he is absolutely through with her. I don't care for this idea. He says I don't have any kick coming because I always win out since he always comes back to me, which proves that he is absolutely through with her, doesn't it? I think there's something wrong with the way he figures. What is it?

MORALLY ALOOF
DEAR ABBY: It's heads he wins, tails you lose. Tell Fred that if he can't prove his "strength" by staying away from the other gal entirely, you'll be not only morally aloof, but physically absent from his life.

DEAR ABBY: I don't mind people borrowing things, but I can't stand beggars. My neighbor (I can't call her a friend, she is just an acquaintance) carries things too far. She sends her children over here for two eggs, a loaf of bread, sugar, mustard, or bread. She has even borrowed money from me. She has never returned anything. Her excuse is, "We didn't have time to go to the store."

Since I always have on hand what she needs for, I can't say I don't have it and sin against God. And I can't say I can't spare it when I really can. My husband hates this situation. And it is getting me down. Please advise.

DESPERATE
DEAR DESPERATE: Don't lie.

Tell your neighbor that because she has never returned anything she's borrowed, you have decided not to lend her anything in the future. It may be exactly what she needs to wake her up. If she's offended and never speaks to you again, you are not out much.

DEAR ABBY: I met a woman recently at the home of a mutual friend. She was very pretty, intelligent, refined and friendly. But for some strange reason, which I cannot for the life of me understand, I took an instant dislike to her. This has been bothering me because I rarely form an opinion about a person before getting to know him. Are first impressions usually correct? Why do you suppose I took such a definite dislike to this woman?

MISS T.
DEAR MISS T.: Perhaps she reminded you of someone you dislike with good reason. Or possibly she was TOO "pretty, intelligent and refined," and you were jealous.

Backstairs At The White House

By ALVIN SPIVAK

WASHINGTON 8 1/2 — Backstairs at the White House: It hasn't been easy, but success is in sight for President Johnson's drive to deprive all but a chosen few federal officials of fancy limousines.

A directive was issued on Dec. 19, 1963, by Budget Bureau Director Kermit Gordon "with the explicit approval of the President." It provided that the 131 limousines and heavy sedans then in use in Washington would have to be phased down to 20 limousines and no heavy sedans.

Gordon reported on Feb. 3, 1964, that "there was some considerable chagrin and some gnashing of teeth in some quarters, but the order will stick and it will be adhered to."

On March 1 of this year, Gordon had a further report for the House Appropriations Committee. He said the target limit of 20 limousines would be reached by next June 30.

The ceiling does not include limousines used by President Johnson and others at the White House, which generally are rented for a nominal fee from auto companies.

It restricts limousines to cabinet members, military service secretaries and members of the Joint Chiefs opened a men's room door and turned out the light.

It was one of a number of marathon days Johnson had been having — one meeting after another, one speech after another.

The hectic pace the President follows has been talked about and written about on numerous occasions but one of the best summations came recently from a wag who reported:

"I hear one of the television networks was going to do a special called 'A day in the life of President Johnson' but had to call off the program because the day lasted 24 hours."

And Gordon is quite specific about what a limousine is. He told the House Committee:

"A limousine is a seven-passenger car with retractable glass between the chauffeur and the passengers."

The no-limousine directive was tied to Johnson's demands for economy and austerity in government. It also will mean "reducing to zero" the number of heavy sedans — also described by Gordon as "luxury cars" — in federal service.

Gordon said the government was down from 359 heavy sedans on June 30, 1963, to an expected 200 on June 30, 1965. The number will keep declining as the vehicles wear out and are replaced by medium or light sedans.
